Middlebury College

Middlebury Vermont

Welcome to Middlebury College

This campus guide is designed to help you during your visit here. In addition to the map itself, you'll find photographs and descriptions of major campus buildings to help you determine where you need to go. We hope you enjoy your visit to Middlebury.

MIDDLEBURY AT A GLANCE

- Founded in 1800
- More than 1,300 courses in 44 undergraduate majors
- Student faculty ratio: 9 to 1
- About 2,350 undergraduate students
- Students typically come from all 50 states and more than 75 foreign countries
- 48 percent are men; 52 percent are women
- Summer Language Schools offer immersion programs in nine languages
- Bread Loaf School of English and Writers Conference: summer programs in English literature and letters
- Middlebury Schools Abroad: located at 27 sites in 11 countries

Emma Willard House

Emma Willard serves as offices for undergraduate admissions and financial aid. Built in 1811, it was the site of Emma Willard's pioneering female seminary, the first institution of higher learning for women in the United States.

Campus tours leave from the building Monday through Friday throughout the year, except during examination periods and College vacations. Saturday morning tours are available August through November. Comfortable footwear is recommended.

Main Library

The College's new library is a user-friendly campus hub, filled with every study and research tool, from the latest learning technology to centuries-old manuscripts. Designed by the noted architects Gwathmey Siegel and Associates, the library has wireless capability and more than 1 million holdings.

The International Student Organization stages its annual cultural show in McCullough Social Space.

Peterson Family Athletics Complex

Middlebury's athletic facilities are among the best in the country. Athletes and fans enjoy a 2,200-seat hockey arena; 9,200-square-foot fitness center overlooking the Green Mountains; Olympic-size pool; gymnasium housing basketball, volleyball, and tennis courts, and a climbing wall; and field house with indoor track and tennis and squash courts.

- Chip Kenyon '85 Arena
- The Natorium
- Nelson Recreation Center
- Pepin Gymnasium
- "The Bubble" Field House
- Fitness Center
- Lawson Lounge
- Kenyon Lounge

It's hard to say which is the bigger draw: the fitness center's equipment or the view of the Green Mountains.

Bread Loaf Campus

Bread Loaf comes alive each summer as home to both the Bread Loaf School of English and the Writers' Conference. At other times of year, the campus hosts parents and alumni returning for events. In winter, the campus is used by the College's cross-country ski center.

Joseph Battell willed the original mountain and forest area comprising the campus to the College in 1915. The distinctive yellow Bread Loaf Inn and other buildings were constructed to house Battell's summer guests.

- Bread Loaf School of English
- Bread Loaf Writers' Conference
- Rikert Ski Touring Center

Kenyon Arena is home to men's and women's championship hockey teams.

TRAVELING TO MIDDLEBURY

Located in the Champlain Valley between the Green Mountains of Vermont and the Adirondack Mountains of New York, the 350-acre main campus is part of a classic, small New England town. The 1,800-acre mountain campus—site of the Bread Loaf School of English and Bread Loaf Writers' Conference—and the Snow Bowl (ski area) are 20 minutes away by car.

Flying
 Burlington International Airport is 45 minutes from campus and is served by a number of commercial airlines with direct routes to Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, New York City, and Pittsburgh.

Driving
From Burlington: Take Route 7 South into Middlebury. Turn right on Route 30 South.
From New York or New Jersey: Take the New York Thruway (87 North) to Exit 24 for the Northway. In Albany, take the Northway to Exit 20 (149 East/Fl. Ann), then follow Route 149 East to Route 4 East. After entering Vermont on Route 4, take Exit 4 for Route 30 North, which leads directly to the campus.

From Boston: Take I-93 North to 89 North. Follow 89 North into Vermont. Take Exit 3 for Bethel and Route 107 West. Take 107 to Route 100 North. Take Route 100 to Route 125 West. This takes you over a (small) mountain, past the Bread Loaf campus in Ripton, and down into East Middlebury. It ends at Route 7. Turn right (north) onto Route 7, which goes into the town of Middlebury. Take Route 30 South to the campus.

Directions to Bread Loaf Campus and the Snow Bowl
From Middlebury: Take Route 7 South. In East Middlebury, turn left onto Route 125 East. This will take you through East Middlebury and up the mountain to Ripton. The Bread Loaf campus is identifiable by its colorful, deep yellow, frame buildings, with dark green shutters, on either side of Route 125. The Snow Bowl is two miles beyond Bread Loaf.

Visitor Parking
 Visitor parking is located beside Emma Willard House, in the Center for the Arts parking lot, at the Field House, behind Bicentennial Hall, and at the Kirk Center.

Sunderland Language Center

Sunderland is home to the administrative offices for the summer Language Schools, the College's Schools Abroad, and its Off-Campus Study program. The building houses four interactive learning centers with computers for each student, three smart classrooms, a 24-hour-a-day student computer lab, and video editing suites.

- Charles A. Dana Auditorium
- Language Schools Administration
- Off-Campus Study
- C.V. Starr-Middlebury Schools Abroad Administration

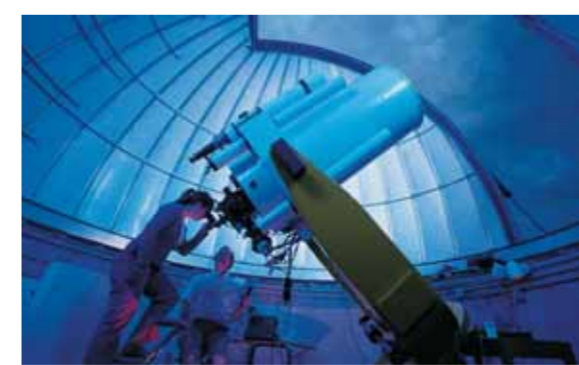

Amibic is one of nine languages taught at the College.

McCardell Bicentennial Hall

Students pursue science study in an award-winning facility, McCardell Bicentennial Hall, which is home to seven departments in the natural and social sciences. Its sophisticated equipment and the technical capabilities of its labs and research spaces rival those at major research universities and scientific firms.

- Rooftop observatory with computer-controlled 24-inch telescope and charge-coupled-device camera
- Armstrong Science Library
- Geographic Information Systems Laboratory
- Laser spectroscopy laboratories with ring dye laser system
- Lake studies and oceanography lab
- Fluorescence microscopy laboratory
- Greenhouse
- Other specialized equipment: scanning electron microscope, nuclear magnetic resonance spectrometer, inductively coupled plasma atomic emission spectrometer, magnetic circular dichroism spectrometer system, graphite furnace atomic absorption spectrometer, X-ray diffraction, real-time PRC for DNA sequencing

Students explore the universe through the College's 24-inch reflecting telescope.

Center for the Arts

The Center for the Arts is a laboratory for artistic expression and provides performance spaces and offices for the theatre, dance, and music programs at the College. It is also home to the Museum of Art and to the music library, which incorporates the Helen Hartness Flanders Ballad Collection and the Vermont Archive of Traditional Music.

- Box Office
- Concert Hall
- Seeler Studio Theatre

- Media Library
- Middlebury College Museum of Art
- Rehearsals Café

A composition class takes advantage of the CFA concert hall.

Old Chapel

Built in 1836, Old Chapel was the second building of the planned Old Stone Row and was for a century the main classroom building. Since 1941, Old Chapel has been the College's administrative center.

- President's Office
- Offices for senior administrators
- Trustee Board Room
- Seminar rooms

Proctor Hall

Primarily a student dining facility, the building is also home to the College radio station, bookstore, a faculty-staff dining room, and student gathering spaces.

- College Bookstore
- Redfield Proctor Dining Room
- WRMC Radio Station

Proctor Terrace is a favorite campus gathering spot.

EMERGENCY PHONES

Red emergency phones are located in dorms and academic buildings all over campus. Pick up the receiver, and the call will be automatically connected to the Department of Public Safety dispatch center.

Keypad phones, located at entrances to the larger residence halls, can also be used to call for help.

The icon on this map indicates additional emergency phones. These phones are located on black pedestals with blue globes on top. They do not have receivers—they use a keypad and speaker system.

Emergencies: Dial 911 and the call will be connected to the Vermont State Police.

Dial 5911 or "0" to be connected to the Department of Public Safety. These phones may also be used to contact Midd Rides by dialing RIDE (7433).
